STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1891.

NO. 73

HUSTONVILLE.

—Many visitors from surrounding cities are attending the meetings at the Christian church and interest in Rev. Tharpe's sermons increases daily. A refreshing season is anticipated.

—Judge Camnitz impaneled a couple of colored juries last week and the dignity and intelligence with which they acquitted themselves elicited universal admiration and commendation.

—Many of our citizens as litigants and witnesses found circuit court a little monotonous in appearing early the first week of court and being put off from time to time till their was the unenviable distinction of being there at final adjournment Saturday afternoon.

—The ladies of the Presbyterian church are preparing a supper, to be served on Thanksgiving night, the proceeds of which will be appropriated to improvements of their church building. Their deserved reputation of excellence as caterers insures a complimentary patronage.

—Bob McAlister, of your town, has been investigating the desirability of different West End farms for sale, and we assure him that no locality will extend him a more cordial welcome to citizenship than the incomparable Hustonville precinct. Give us an unbiased hearing, Bob, and you are "ourn."

—Hon. Henry Camnitz gives an instance of the wonderful preservative properties of an embalming fluid he uses in a subject, to which it was topically applied last February before burial, and on exhumation for removal a few days ago the features were as natural and life-like as when the body was prepared for interment.

—George Weatherford, of Richmond, spent Sunday with his parents. W. F. Shipman, of Boyle, was here with friends Sunday. Carroll Reid, of Danville, was up last week, supplementing the sport of two weeks on Green river by another raid on the birds. Despite the great disadvantages of dry weather and scarcity of water, the dogs found plenty of game and full bags were brought in every night.

—Dr. Brown and Charley Bohon got in Saturday afternoon, not sorry that they didn't heed the advice of the weather-wise, who discouraged their hunt at this juncture. Dry weather, mountain fires and an absence of nearly every indication favorable to deer hunters, hurried them home, with only the solace of being greeted on every hand with the twit, "I told you so." The doctor is enthusiastic over the sanitary benefits of a few days' mountain exercise, solitude on most inviting deer stands and contact with a primitive condition of society, customs and surroundings, which carried him back to his boyhood of 15 or 20 years ago. Roads lit be better than the buffalo trails, with which he was once familiar, nature undisturbed by the vandalism of man, save at long intervals, where a cabin and little deadening indicated a struggle against starvation, a cordial welcome to share such comforts as the host could spread, an eager inquiry about the outside world's movements, while luxuriating in corn dodgers—whose formula he had long thought one of the lost arts—black coffee without "condiments," (?) wild meats and sweet potatoes, the open fireplace flanked by three or four of the old cast cooking utensils, no longer offered for sale in the pretentious districts, the big wheel and spinning jennies, occupying places now preempted by sewing machines and reed organs, in thickly settled districts, hand cards and flax hackles conspicuous in their allotted places, strings of snap beans and dried pumpkins, savory substitutes for various canned goods, are but a partial list of the vivid reminders of what he and Daniel Boone left in Virginia, when they pushed through Middleboro's site for this their land of cane and turkey. The doctor hasn't a regret, but is billed for another communion with nature in her mountain solitudes, and with the most admirable representatives of Kentucky's almost traditional hospitality, the honest mountaineer.

A BIT OF SCRIPTURE.—There's a Presbyterian minister in Detroit, whose wife is very fond of this city as a place of residence. Some time ago the Synod to which he belongs was discussing the advisability of sending him away on some important business occupying a year or so. It was suggested to him and he went to his wife, as all good husbands do.

"My dear," he said to her cautiously, "what do you think of going away from Detroit?"

"I don't think of it at all," she answered promptly. "Why did you ask?"

"Well, the Synod has asked me to go and—"

She went over to him softly, and, putting both hands on his head in a motherly way, said solemnly:

"My son, if Synods entice thee, consent thou not."

■ And he didn't.—Detroit Free Press.

—The rain seems to have been general in the Ohio Valley and there is great rejoicing.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—Mr. R. T. Pierce is now having the foundation timbers hauled to build a new hotel on the site of his old hotel, burned down in the disastrous fire in March, 1890. When it is completed it will fill a vacancy, and of course it will be an improvement on the old one and add attractive features to our town.

—For the past week there has been more than the usual stir in our town. On Saturday night, Oct. 31st, Elder W. A. Gibson, of Simpsonville, commenced a series of interesting meetings at the Christian church, holding them night and day, till Sunday, the 8th, when they closed. There was more than the usual attendance all the time and a deep interest taken in them. Both saint and sinner and even those of a different faith attended closely and had a warm feeling for the devoted preacher.

—Married, on the 5th inst., by Richard Gibson, who has special license for the business, Mr. George Helms, a bachelor some where either on the shady or sunny side of 50, to Miss Alice Mofield, a maiden some 23 years of age. The town fellows laid in a small quantity of liquid steam to give the couple a charivari, but may have been slightly intimidated by some light artillery demonstrations of some of the household, and contented themselves with "bamboozling" him and letting him go. Also, on the same day, at the residence of the bride's father, P. Chelf, by the Rev. Josiah Wilson, Mr. Lorenzo D. Cochran to Miss Bettie Chelf.

—On Saturday, the 7th, the Monthly Teachers' Association met at this place. There were considerable "balks" at the start, and for a time it seemed that there would be a failure. There were teachers sufficient present, but it was difficult to find the association. The president, secretary and other officers failed to appear. At last a private in the ranks succeeded in having the court-house bell rung; a number of teachers assembled, principally female, and the vice-president, Prof. R. H. Brown, of the Janie Wash Institute, though apparently a little bashful, presided with dignity and much ability. It being too late for any forenoon business, on motion of J. Henry Thomas, the association adjourned to meet at the Christian church at 1 o'clock P. M.

In the evening a good crowd met at the church. Col. S. Adams, who was on the programme to deliver the address of welcome to the teachers, failing to appear, Elder W. A. Gibson was substituted, who delivered an appropriate and hearty address, welcoming the teachers, and also dwelt eloquently on the importance of teachers' associations and their benefits in devising the best methods of cultivating the rising generation. On the subject, "Incentives to Teachers," Prof. J. N. Huff was substituted for R. S. Rector, absent. After alluding to a number of incentives, such as good dinners, the "draw," &c., he earnestly and impressively urged the teachers to feel their suitability for the position before they became teachers; to attempt to teach no branches without developing character; he should be wrapped up in the interest of his pupils; he should have inspiration and should instill noble inspirations in his pupils. Prof. J. H. Allen filled the place of Enoch Wesley on the subject, "System in Teaching," with much ability, and his remarks were very instructive. Several subjects were dispensed with on account of the lateness of the hour and absence of those assigned to them. Music being called for, Miss Amanda O. Stone came forward to the organ and accompanied by Miss Lizzie Phillips, J. H. Thomas and others, "Let us Walk in the Light" was sung with spirit. "How to Secure the Co-operation of Parents," by L. N. Taylor, followed, and was criticized and discussed by Henry Thomas, Elder Gibson and J. M. Owens. Miss Lizzie Fogle criticized Owens' views and several retorts were passed between them. On the subject, "How to Teach History," Miss Mollie Humphrey explained her method of teaching advanced history and J. M. Owens, who has a reputation of being a living encyclopedia of all historical knowledge, explained in full his method or plan of teaching the same. J. W. Brown then told how to teach Geography. After several topics were laid aside, Miss Dolly Cowden appeared before the audience and recited "The Beautiful Hand," followed by Miss Lizzie Phillips with "The Weaver's Plight." The young misses, who are 12 years old each, delivered their pieces with correct expression and appropriate gestures and at the conclusion were warmly applauded. Miss Amanda O. Stone, aged 11 years, now sung, with organ accompaniment, the song "The Dear Old Shawl my Grand-mother Wore" in such fine style and with such pathos that at its conclusion she, too, was warmly applauded. The writer can speak with more freedom of the performances of these three young misses, from the fact that though they are his own pupils at present, yet he claims no credit for their performances, for whatever praise they are entitled to is due to their own bright genius and to Mrs. Jennie Clark, who had them in tow at the time, preparing for a Sunday-school concert.

In conclusion, Elder Gibson being called upon, delivered a fine address, wishing all success and prosperity and gave an earnest appeal in behalf of popular education, claiming that as much as he loves all schools, that he had rather see any school go down than the public schools; that they were the hope of the State and the Union.

John M. Owens, J. H. Allen and J. H. Thomas were appointed a committee to decide time and place of holding next meeting. It was decided in favor of Danville, and time, Saturday before the 31 Sunday in December.

Prof. J. N. Huff, Miss Lizzie Fogle and E. Tarrant were appointed a committee on programme and the association adjourned.

—Notwithstanding the extreme inclemency of the weather, Tuesday evening, Mrs. Jennie Clark's entertainment for the benefit of the Sunday school at this place, was attended by a good sized crowd and was a grand success. We much regret that want of time prevents us from giving a detailed account of the proceedings, with the names and parts of those participating. The exercises were varied and well performed, consisting of recitations, songs, dialogues, &c. All who attended were well pleased. Our bachelor fossil, Richard Gibson, who made his debut as a manager of the curtain machinery, frequently received loud applause for his unique performances.

The Blessed Rain.

This beautiful prose poem is from the pen of Editor J. M. Richardson, of the Glasgow Times.

The blessed rain has been steadily falling for 24 hours and as the Times goes to press the music of its pattering on roof-shingle and window-pane. Never was falling water more beautiful, or more needed. The earth was parched. Vegetation was scorched as by the frosts of mid-winter. Meadows were stubble. Wheat was shriveling in the ground. The face of all nature was seared and browned as with the breath of flame. There was a lack of water for either man or beast. A water-famine stared us in the face.

But the clouds obeyed the providences of God. The blessed rain came down in bucketsfuls and barrelfuls and streamfuls. It revived springs, filled wells, flushed water-courses, tinted the wheat fields, freshened the earth and refreshed man.

And for all the tender mercies of an ever-watchful and all-providing Providence, let saint and sinner be alike thankful.

Zachary and Pierce Debate.

[To the Editor Interior Journal.]

The religious discussion at Byrdtown, Tenn., closed the 8th inst. with good feeling existing on the part of all who attended. Many expressed themselves greatly benefited by the investigation. From 600 to 1,000 people were in attendance during the entire discussion. At the close of the last session the congregation joined in singing "Jerusalem my Happy Home," with the beautiful choros, "We're Going Home to Live Forever," and all gave to each other and the two debaters the parting hand of brotherly love. This debate is a living demonstration of the truth that two christian gentlemen can meet and discuss religious differences without becoming angry. Very Respectfully,

JAMES W. ZACHARY.

"McGinty's Troubles" is the name of this week's attraction at the Wagner, the Mahara Bros., company beginning their engagement with a matinee yesterday afternoon. "McGinty's Troubles," as might be expected from its name, is one of those nonsensical productions now so popular, which contain just enough trace of plot to hold together a sparkling succession of songs, interspersed with goodly quantities of "specialties." The skit is a fine example of its kind. The songs are catchy and cleverly introduced. The play made a decided hit yesterday and was witnessed by crowded houses at both performances.—Moline, Ill., Globe. At Walton's Opera House, Nov. 17.

If an S and an I and O and U,
With an X at the end, spell Su;
And an E and a Y and an E spell I,
Pray, what is a speller to do?

Then, if also an S and I and a G
And an H E D spell side,
There's not much left for a speller to do,
But go and commit sionkeyesighed.

Possibly with a desire to flatter his hearers, that tactful orator, ex-Senator Ingalls, told a Boston audience the other night that "The Pilgrims first fell upon their knees, then upon the aborigines; since then they have fallen upon the Chinese."

JUST THE THING.—"We have no use for bear stories," said the editor; "our readers demand something spicy."

"Well," said the man with the manuscript, "this story is about a cinnamon bear."—Truth.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—S. S. Jackson, the veteran florist of Hamilton county, O., and wife celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary this week.

—Judge and Mrs. James H. Tinsley of Barbourville, celebrated their silver wedding on the 7th. Of the six children, Miss Ella and Mr. Charles, are well known here.

—Charles Esslin, at Ottenheim, has secured a pretty young lady for his wife, and they will be united the 17th of this month, at 3 P. M., at the Lutheran church there. Everybody invited.

—Charles L. Tiffany, the head of the big jewelry firm, and his wife, will celebrate their golden wedding November 30, at their palatial home, New York. He is 80, but still attends to his large business.

—The Winchester Democrat says of the man and the pretty woman who held religious services on the streets here for several days; and nights: "J. R. Rice and Miss Isabella Shields, whose efforts to procure matrimonial papers was detailed in our last, were married at Richmond instead of Mt. Sterling. From the papers we find that they have been married at several places, the last being at Bowling Green. It seems to have been a scheme to awaken sympathy and interest in the people."

—Married, Wm.; Irving Heddens, Margaret White Carpenter, Wednesday, Nov. 11, Manchester, Ky. So reads an after card, which has just been received. The bride is a splendid representative of her sex, being handsome, intelligent, cultivated and that most interesting of persons, a fascinating widow. The man of her choice is a wholesale grocery merchant of Kansas City and is said to be a very fine gentleman. He has indeed won a jewel and we congratulate him, while wishing both a long and happy life.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The Christian church of Lawrenceburg is anxious to secure a pastor.

—Nearly all the religious papers are condemning the Voice, which in a recent issue declared "the church is the bulwark of the rum power."

—Dr. Hunter, of Harrodsburg, will preach at the Presbyterian church Sunday in place of Mr. Helm, who is assisting him in a protracted meeting.

HUBBLE.

—Mrs. Jas. Dunn has returned from Cincinnati, where she has been having Dr. Johnstone operate on her for cancer of the breast. She claims that the operation was not so severe as it was before. —Corn is selling here at $2 delivered in the crib, or $1.75 shucked in the field. —Uncle Greenberry Bright is thought not to be so well by his physician, Dr. Carpenter. He is at his son-in-law, R. L. White's, since the fire. Mrs. L. B. Adams, who has been at her father's bedside for some days, has returned to her home at Hustonville. Miss Maggie Swinebroad has returned from an extensive visit in Tennessee among relatives. Mrs. Bone and her sister, Miss Sasser, of Tennessee, are visiting Miss Maggie Swinebroad. Mr. Jno. Thompson, our old weather prophet, has returned from Virginia. —Our Friday's JOURNAL reached us Monday evening. How is that, Mr. John Wannamaker, for P. O. service? —Samuel Harris has been receiving some cattle this week of G. P. and J. W. Bright, which they have been feeding, at 5 cents per pound.

A traveler on the Ivory coast, West Africa, says that for three kegs of powder and a rifle he can buy a young woman; that the sale of girls is as common as any other article of merchandise; that women live in a condition of complete slavery, and he added incidentally that he had 20 women in his caravan carrying baggage.

The older I grow—and I now stand upon the brink of eternity—the more comes back to me the sentence in the catechism which I learned when a child, and the fuller and deeper becomes its meaning: "What is the chief end of man? To glorify God, and to enjoy him forever."—Carlisle.

How They Got Rich:—She—"I could have married either Whipper or Snapper if I'd wanted to, and both of those men whom I refused have since got rich, while you are still as poor as a church mouse." He—"Of course, I've been supporting you all these years. They haven't."—New York Weekly.

A GOOD WAY OFF.—Arcturus is so far from the earth that his light, traveling 190,000 miles a second, takes 181 years to reach us. We see the star, in fact, by means of light which left it in the days of Queen Anne.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A GREAT many people want to see Mr. Bradley get the vice-presidential nomination on the republican ticket, but the result of the recent elections has so filled Mr. B. with the spirit of self-sacrifice that he is ready to see the prize go to Gov. McKinley. —Courier-Journal. That may be so, but that is not the reason Col. Bradley gives. He says that both political parties are too cowardly to nominate a Southern man on the National ticket, or the democrats would nominate John G. Carlisle, whom he had rather see president than any man in the country, provided a democrat is to be elected. He didn't add that on the other hand his party would nominate him for vice-president, but we can draw our inferences, all the same, and in the event it should be realized, no one will shout louder for the big-hearted, big-brained Kentuckian than we.

LT. GOV. JONES, of New York, was buried so completely out of sight by the recent cyclone in the Empire State, that but few have ever thought of him since. The "man who pays the freight," although claiming to be a democrat and having been elected with Hill as one, promised to throw himself in the breach and do all in his power to defeat Flower, whose sole offending seems to have been that he was more popular than Jones and got the democratic nomination by acclamation, notwithstanding Jones was a candidate. The result shows that Jones is a very small potato and few in a hill politically and otherwise. It is a pity he will be governor of New York from the time Hill resigns to become Senator, till Flower is inaugurated in January. He ought to be kept away out in the cold.

ALTHOUGH the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette is howling for Foraker for U. S. Senator and claiming his election "beyond the shadow of a doubt," a majority of the legislature seem to be for Sherman. The republicans claim 55 votes in the General Assembly and of the 48 necessary for a nomination, the correspondents, who have interviewed the members, say that Sherman has 41 and Foraker only 35. Sherman has served his party long and honorably and it would be the height of ingratitude for it to throw him overboard now for a man whose chief claim seems to be his gift of keeping alive the dying embers of the civil war.

THE recent election demonstrated very clearly that the reduction of the tariff is the only issue upon which the democrats can unite and achieve victory, and the smart Senators and Congressmen who came home last spring determined to advance the silver question and retire Cleveland, have learned a thing or two. Already a number of them have seen the error of their way and are outspoken for Cleveland and for honest taxation believing that the silver business can take care of itself. Let the tariff and an economically administered government be our battle cry and we are as sure to win in 1892 as the election day comes.

A JURY in the U. S. court at Louisville gave Brakeman Howe $5,685 damages against the N. N. & M. V. Howe was sent back to flag a train one night and while waiting the train came along and cut his arm off. If this wasn't contributory negligence, which might have caused a greater disaster, it would be hard to suggest a case, but the brakeman proved that he had been worked almost to death without extra pay and that it was beyond his physical endurance to have stayed awake. The jury thought so too, and gave him nearly all he claimed.

It is sent out from Frankfort that the three wise men of the revisory committee are at work laying off the State into judicial districts. This looks very much like they do not know what they were hired for. The legislature will attend to that without any suggestions and if the commissioners don't look sharp that body will pay but little attention to any of its suggestions.

Gov. HILL has issued his thanksgiving proclamation and because he did so ahead of the president the republican papers are charging him with disrespect. The country can not wait on a president who has nothing to be thankful for and is consequently in no hurry to proclaim a thanksgiving, and it will admire Gov. Hill's timely action.

In his salutatory in the Chicago Times Carter Harrison announces that he is "there to stay." This is a bad sign. A paper which started here once upon a time was very glib about being here to stay. It is not here now, nor was it six months after the assertion was made.

NEW ORLEANS is bound to her lottery idols. The contest between the pros and antis for delegates to the State convention to nominate officers resulted in a victory by 11,000 majority for pros.

MCKINLEY's official plurality in Hamilton county, O., which includes Cincinnati, is 5,776, but nevertheless Campbell has a majority of the white vote.

DAN E. O'SULLIVAN's fight against the lotteries in the Louisville Critic, has resulted in the grand jury finding indictments against 31 of the Frankfort lottery agents and two of the Louisianians. Dan usually gets what he goes for.

—Uncle Ben Robinson, who was hurt by his horse throwing him a short time ago, was able to be in town Wednesday.

—George Denny and Hampton Anderson, both colored men of this county, have been granted pensions at the rate of $12 per month.

—The town trustees have met and "whereas and resolved" in regard to the local option law. There is no doubt that whisky is sold illegally on "Battle Row," but getting any one to go before the court and swear it is a dog with another tail.

—The Garrard County Bible Society met at the Baptist church Sunday night. This society had recently purchased a new stock of bibles and testaments and they, together with a handsome book case were destroyed by the recent big fire. They were not insured.

—The fire alarm (nothing unusual of late in Lancaster) again brought out the citizens Tuesday morning. The alarm was caused by the burning out of a chimney at the residence of Mr. E. Brown which was extinguished. Practice makes perfect and the boys can get the fire engine out about as quick as a city fire company.

—Mr. Wm. Patterson and Miss Jennie Johnston were married today, Thursday, at the home of the bride's parents, near McCreary. The bride is a daughter of T. M. Johnston, a prosperous farmer, and the groom is a son of Judge James Patterson. The ceremony was performed by Eld. J. C. Frank. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for the home of the groom in California.

—The papers are filled with items as to the contest for post-master of Paducah. This is a matter of great concern to the public and has assumed national proportions. Of course the people of Kentucky feel a great interest in the result, as it is of the utmost importance to know who is to lick stamps and hand out letters at the post-office in Paducah. The Chili affair dwindles into insignificance compared with that of the P. M. at Paducah, Ky.

—Cleid Johnston and wife, of Louisville, are here to attend the wedding of his sister, Ed Sparks and wife, of Nicholasville, visited his grandmother Sunday. Holman Glass and Fisher Gaines, of Camp Nelson, were here Sunday. Mrs. Saunders, of Lawrenceburg, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. W. Lillard. The popular drummer, Mr. McDonald, of Cincinnati, is here. Judge George Denny and wife, of Lexington, are here visiting. Mrs. Bob Young and son, Huffman, are visiting Mrs. B. Farris.

—Because Col. John F. Mines, the old newspaper man, went back to his cups and died of drunkenness after he had been treated by the Keeley bichloride of gold remedy, is no reason why the New York Press, World and Sun should persist in ridiculing the Dwight cure. It is well known that thousands have been cured by this wonderful remedy and the fact that one in a thousand should relapse after treatment is not a matter of any great wonder. It would seem that there are those who would be rejoiced to know that the whole thing is a failure, but why this should be so is not perceptible when the need of such a remedy is so apparent. Every lover of humanity ought to rejoice in the discovery of anything that will rescue a victim of the liquor habit from the perils that environ him and that will inevitably lead him to ruin.

—The statement telegraphed from Stanford as to an attempt to outrage a "six-year old child" by Sam Hunt turned out on trial to be without any foundation in fact. Sam Hunt is a negro about 14 years of age and the girl is 9 years of age. She is very handsome and unusually intelligent. She stated on oath that they were playing together and that the negro boy had a nickel which he threw up and it was caught by her and that he caught her hand to take it from her. That was all there was of it and no attempt was made by the boy to do anything wrong. The boy made the same statement and both were corroborated by a young man who was with him in a hundred yards of the parties. Mr. Kelly, the farmer with whom the boy lived, testified as to his good character. Upon a full hearing of the case the defendant was discharged. The prosecution was conducted by County Attorney pro tem, F. M. Hubble and Col. W. O. Bradley and the defense by Gen. W. J. Landrum.

—Judge Sterling B. Toney, of Louisville, is a tony speaker, judging from his introduction of Hon. Daniel Daugherty on the evening of the 9th. He told the audience they were to hear "a diamond commentary upon a golden text touched by hallowed fire." Could the Cicero of the mountains; the fiery, untamed and untameable Fontaine T. Fox Iobbitt, in the wildest stretch of his imagination, equal this? He referred to Tully, Mirabeau, Brougham, Sheridan and Burke, but said that none of them surpassed the "golden tongued Demosthenes, Daniel Daugherty, of New York." Mr. Daugherty simply replied: "With a modesty characteristic of the Celtic race, I blush at the introduction."

Judge Toney might have truthfully added that all of the distinguished oratory referred to, together with an innumerable host of other golden-tongues, silver-tongues, brass-tongues and pewter-tongues, have long since passed away and the world still moves in its accustomed way, unmindful of the loss it has sustained.

W. P. WALTON.

A GREAT many people want to see Mr. Bradley get the vice-presidential nomination on the republican ticket, but the result of the recent elections has so filled Mr. B. with the spirit of self sacrifice that he is ready to see the prize go to Gov. McKinley.—Courier-Journal. That may be so, but that is not the reason Col. Bradley gives. He says that both political parties are too cowardly to nominate a Southern man on the National ticket, or the democrats would nominate John G. Carlisle, whom he had rather see president than any man in the country, provided a democrat is to be elected. He didn't add that on the other hand his party would nominate him for vice-president, but we can draw our inferences, all the same, and in the event it should be realized, no one will shout louder for the big-hearted, big-brained Kentuckian than we.

—Mr. Gov. Jones, of New York, was buried so completely out of sight by the recent cyclone in the Empire State, that but few have ever thought of him since. The "man who pays the freight," although claiming to be a democrat and having been elected with Hill as one, promised to throw himself in the breach and do all in his power to defeat Flower, whose sole offending seems to have been that he was more popular than Jones and got the democratic nomination by acclamation, notwithstanding Jones was a candidate. The result shows that Jones is a very small potato and few in a bill politically and otherwise. It is a pity he will be governor of New York from the time Hill resigns to become Senator, till Flower is inaugurated in January. He ought to be kept away out in the cold.

ALTHOUGH the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette is howling for Foraker for U. S. Senator and claiming his election "beyond the shadow of a shade of a doubt," a majority of the legislature seem to be for Sherman. The republicans claim 95 votes in the General Assembly and of the 48 necessary for a nomination, the correspondents, who have interviewed the members, say that Sherman has 41 and Foraker only 35. Sherman has served his party long and honorably and it would be the height of ingratitude for it to throw him overboard now for a man whose chief claim seems to be his gift of keeping alive the dying embers of the civil war.

THE recent election demonstrated very clearly that the reduction of the tariff is the only issue upon which the democrats can unite and achieve victory, and the smart Senators and Congressmen who came home last spring determined to advance the silver question and retire Cleveland, have learned a thing or two. Already a number of them have seen the error of their way and are outspoken for Cleveland and for honest taxation believing that the silver business can take care of itself. Let the tariff and an economically administered government be our battle cry and we are as sure to win in 1892 as the election day comes.

A JURY in the U. S. court at Louisville gave Brakeman Howe $5,685 damages against the N. & O. M. V. Howe was sent back to flag a train one night and while waiting the train came along and cut his arm off. If this wasn't contributory negligence, which might have caused a greater disaster, it would be hard to suggest a case, but the brakeman proved that he had been worked almost to death without extra pay and that it was beyond his physical endurance to have stayed awake. The jury thought so too, and gave him nearly all he claimed.

It is sent out from Frankfort that the three wise men of the revisory committee are at work laying off the State into judicial districts. This looks very much like they do not know what they were hired for. The legislature will attend to that without any suggestions and if the commissioners don't look sharp that body will pay but little attention to any of its suggestions.

Gov. HILL has issued his thanksgiving proclamation and because he did so ahead of the president the republican papers are charging him with disrespect. The country can not wait on a president who has nothing to be thankful for and is consequently in no hurry to proclaim a thanksgiving, and it will admire Gov. Hill's timely action.

In his salutatory in the Chicago Times Carter Harrison announces that he is "there to stay." This is a bad sign. A paper which started here once upon a time was very glib about being here to stay. It is not here now, nor was it six months after the assertion was made.

NEW ORLEANS is bound to her lottery idols. The contest between the pros and antis for delegates to the State convention to nominate officers resulted in a victory by 11,000 majority for pros.

MCKINLEY's official plurality in Hamilton county, O., which includes Cincinnati, is 5,776, but nevertheless Campbell has a majority of the white vote.

DAN E. O'SULLIVAN's fight against the lotteries in the Louisville Critic, has resulted in the grand-jury finding indictments against 31 of the Frankfort lottery agents and two of the Louisiana. Dan usually gets what he goes for.

CITY AND VICINITY.

New line of beautiful wall paper at W. B. McRoberts'.
For anything to eat and served in any style, go to R. Zimmer's restaurant.
Solid gold ring found. Owner can get it by calling at this office and paying finder.
A SECOND-HAND clothing store has been opened in one of the offices of Bruce's livery stable by Sam Humelstein & Co.
The city council of Danville has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the scoundrels who set fire to Durham & Durham's store.
FARMERS say the ground is breaking up beautifully since the rain, the drouth having a similar effect of a freeze in pulverizing the earth. Wheat is coming out finely and after all there is much life in the old land yet.
THE inspection train, consisting of five special sleeping, eating and observation cars, passed yesterday with General Manager J. G. Metcalfe and all the division superintendents. It is their annual tour over the road and as the system embraces nearly 4,000 miles it will require almost a month for the trip.
An incendiary attempt to destroy Durham & Durham's store, in Danville, which would communicate the flames to the adjoining buildings and burn the business portion of the town, was discovered in time to prevent a conflagration. When an entrance was gained into the store it was discovered that paper and pieces of boxes had been stacked at the back door and saturated with coal oil and ignited to further aid the flames. A hole had been cut in the door about a foot from the ground and the fire was burning on both sides and rapidly approaching a large coal oil reservoir in the room. It is thought to have been an attempt to destroy the town by some of the negroes or their friends who have been hunted down and heavily fined for carrying on the sale of whisky in violation of the local prohibitory laws.

CITY AND VICINITY.

New line of beautiful wall paper at W. B. McRoberts'.

SOLID gold ring found. Owner can get it by calling at this office and paying finder.

A SECOND-HAND clothing store has been opened in one of the offices of Bruce's livery stable by Sam Humelstein & Co.

THE city council of Danville has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the scoundrels who set fire to Durham & Durham's store.

FARMERS say the ground is breaking up beautifully since the rain, the drouth having a similar effect of a freeze in pulverizing the earth. Wheat is coming out finely and after all there is much life in the old land yet.

THE inspection train, consisting of five special sleeping, eating and observation cars, passed yesterday with General Manager J. G. Metcalfe and all the division superintendents. FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

FOR RENT.—Nice two-story house on Main street, with good well and cistern both in yard. All in good repair. J. K. VanArsdale.

FOR RENT.—The double store room now occupied by Joe S. Jones, possession given the first day of January, 1892. Apply to R. Williams, Stanford, Ky.

OWING to the misplacing of the copy, the fact that W. T. Saunders gave the $2,000 bail was not stated in last issue. Messrs. C. M. Jones, R. L. Salter and W. R. Dillon are his sureties.

THE Queen & Crescent and Louisville Southern will sell tickets to Indianapolis and return on Nov. 16-17, good for return until 23d, inclusive, at the rate of one fare for the round-trip from all coupon stations in Kentucky and Tennessee.

A good rain fell Tuesday, which while insufficient to wet the ground, that has been dry for many months, was thankfully received. It solved the water supply, so far as cisterns are concerned, and furnished drink for stock that have been on short rations a long time.

THE Dublin Town Band in their comical uniforms will give a street parade here and an exhibition of their music at 2 p. m. Tuesday next. Come and see it, prepared to stay to the McGinty's Troubles show at night, and take on 5 pounds of fat.

THE Music Department of Garrard College will give its 8th musical entertainment at the court-house at Lancaster, Monday night, Nov. 16. The programme embraces vocal and piano performances and a couple of violin solos by Little Miss Isabella Bailey, daughter of Dr. Steele Bailey, of this place.

THE bump of credulity is very largely developed on Mayor D. W. Vandever's head. He really believes that there is such a man as Starr, of Philadelphia, and that he is coming here to build the water works, while other people are persuaded that when this wonderful Starr appears the other stars will rise in the west and set in the east.

PRESIDENT R. W. HOCKER writes to J. S. Hocker, Esq., that his Metropolitan National Bank, of Kansas City, has succeeded to the business of the Merchants National and moved into its elegant building. The consolidation will leave the Metropolitan a very strong institution, the capital remaining the same as now and the combined deposits over $1,600,000. Mr. Hocker, who engineered the deal, is highly spoken of as a financier by the Kansas City papers and he deserves the congratulations he is receiving.

THE following from the Lexington Leader will be of interest here, where the young lady is well-known: Miss Lula Mock, of Lincoln county, who moved to this city about 2 months ago, has been restored to health by a difficult surgical operation performed by Drs. Barrows and Johns at the Protestant Infirmary. An interesting feature of the case is that she was treated four years ago in Lincoln county for another trouble, through the error of local physicians in making a diagnosis of her case. The operation was performed last Thursday and the patient is now doing exceedingly well. Both of her physicians say that the success of their work was largely due to the heroic patience shown by Miss Mock.

DAVID GRANT has sued out a writ of habeas corpus to regain possession of his child. He states that some 6 or 7 years ago his wife left him and her six months old daughter and went to Robert Land's to live and has since been employed there as a domestic. She has given the child no attention in that time and the entire care of raising it has devolved on him. One day this week she saw the child on the road and securing it brought it to Mr. Land's by force. Judge Varnon granted the writ and the testimony will be heard this morning. Grant states that his ex-wife is a bad woman and not the proper one to raise a child, while the woman puts in a counter charge that Grant is the keeper of a house of prostitution, a drunkard and in no sense the kind of a person to have charge of a child. The case will be an interesting one and will no doubt draw a crowd, as some things of a lively nature are likely to be proved.

IT has been notorious for a long time that it was about as easy to get whisky in the prohibition town of Danville as in the saloon-licensed town of Stanford, about the only difference being that the quality of the former was far from being up to the latter. The officers in Danville have, we are glad to know, at last caught on to what everybody else knew and seem determined to shut off the illegal traffic or land every scamp who violates the law in jail. A couple of detectives employed for the purpose secured indisputable evidence against the parties, most of them negroes, and on their oath 46 warrants were issued. The accused have been on trial for several days and fines to the amount of several thousands of dollars have been entered, carrying with them a work-house sentence, if not paid or reprieved. We are glad to see this work go on and hope the authorities will not stop when they get through with the negroes, but fine every mother's son engaged in the illegal traffic. Let prohibition prohibit, or repeal the law.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Commissioners' Sale.

Lincoln Circuit Court.
Lucy H. Rhodes, &c., Plaintiffs, vs. Cora Rhodes, &c., defendants. Sale in Equity.

By virtue of a judgment rendered in the above titled case at the October term, 1891, of said court, I will on at 11 a. m., or thereabouts, on the farm, which is in Lincoln county, Ky., in the neighborhood of Shelby and Junction Cities, sell to the highest bidder at public auction the following described property, to-wit:

First, a valuable farm of 111 Acres and one rood

of good farming land, which has upon it a comfortable dwelling house, good barn and out buildings, young orchard and other improvements, and three good springs of never failing water. Said farm is convenient to both schools and churches, in a good neighborhood and bounded thus: Beginning at stone corner to Simpson in line of Mrs. A. P. Hawkins, thence with her line N. 63° E. 14 poles and 14 links to a stone. N. 46° E. 30 poles 3 links, S. 83° E. 114 poles 2 links to a stone, corner to Helm, thence his line N. 7° E. 15 poles 3 links, N. 49° W. 25 poles 4 links, N. 14° W. 63 poles 6 links, corner to Elder, thence N. 75° W. 40 poles, N. 75° W. 12 poles 15 links to corner of Simpson, thence S. 4° W. 130 poles to a stone, thence S. 61° E. 42 poles 15 links to the beginning.

Also at the same time and place, I will sell an undivided one-half interest in
